Tools built for synagogues

Every vibrant Jewish community rests on something powerful—not just tradition, not just values, but the people who quietly hold it all together.

We see you.

The synagogue administrator who fields every call, solves every scheduling puzzle, updates the website after hours, tracks every RSVP, handles every curveball with grace.

You are the connector. The caretaker. The calm in the chaos.
 And without you—none of it would run.

We built these tools with deep respect for your role. Not to change what you do, but to support it, to ease your burden, and to help you create the kind of smooth, welcoming experience that lets your community grow and thrive.

You don't just do admin work.
You create order in sacred spaces.
You turn events into connection.
You make people feel like they belong.

And we're here to make that easier—for you, and for the Jewish future you help build every single day.

A New Kind of Support for the Work You Already Do

Imagine this:
You sit down at your desk on Monday morning, and you know exactly what's happening.

You know who registered for Shabbat dinner, who paid, and who still needs a follow-up.
You know what rooms are booked, which ones are open, and who forgot to request the kitchen-in time. You know which member has an upcoming Yahrziet, what time they'll light their candle, and that their letter is ready to be signed and sent.

Because you are the hub. The center. The person everyone trusts to keep it all running.

With EventShalom, you have a live registration list at your fingertips. Every payment, every RSVP, every special request—you see it first. You decide what's needed next.
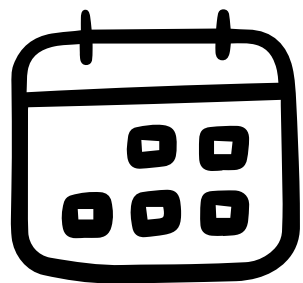

With SimchaSpace, your room schedule is solid. No one books a space without you knowing. Every recurring event is already in place. And when someone asks what's available? You answer instantly.

With Yahrziet Reminders, you uphold tradition with precision. Each name is remembered on time. Each family receives a letter that shows the synagogue hasn't forgotten—and that you made sure it happened.

These tools reinforce your role.
They make you the one who knows everything before anyone else.
The one with the system. The clarity. The answers.

Event Shalom

Every week, you're the one who keeps the gears turning—answering emails, tracking payments, updating calendars, and managing every RSVP with care. It's a lot, but it matters. Because when things run smoothly, people feel welcome. And that's because of you.

EventShalom is here to make your job easier—without taking anything away from what you do.

 It connects registrations, payments, and event details in one place, so you have everything at your fingertips. You still make the decisions. You still approve the details. You still hold the knowledge everyone depends on.
You're not just needed—you're central.

This is your tool to stay organised, stay in control, and help your community thrive—with less chaos, and more calm.

With one tool, connect your website to an events calendar that is always updated. In the events calendar, your members can register for events. This links to payments. With one easy click they pay. You get a live list of those who have registered, what they paid and if they have been security checked before.

Connecting forms with payments is revolutionising.

Yahrziet Reminders

In Jewish life, we do not let someone mourn alone. We show up. We remember. We light a candle.

Yahrziet Reminders are about the connection—between generations, between grief and healing, between each individual and the community that surrounds them. These letters matter. They invite people to return to services. To sponsor in honor. To feel seen, remembered, and held.

But for too long, the time it takes to send them has made this tradition harder and harder to sustain.

Now, that burden is gone.
You can continue this mitzvah—without the spreadsheets, the calculations, or the stress.

Just a simple system, built to help you uphold something sacred. Because memory is not just something we hold. It's something we share—with love, with care, and with community.
Let's keep this tradition strong.

Let's make it simple to say: we remember with you.

Dear Jennifer,

As the anniversary of your beloved, Scott West approaches, we extend our heartfelt thoughts and prayers to you and your family. This solemn time of remembrance offers an opportunity to honor the memory of your loved one and reflect on the lasting impact they have had on your life and our community.

According to our records, Scott departed on 17th Nisan 5783 that falls on April 15th, 2025 of this year. It is a tradition to light a Yahrzeit candle on the evening preceding the anniversary and recite Kaddish in their honor.

Lighting the Yahrzeit Candle: The Yahrzeit candle should be lit at sunset on the evening before the Yahrzeit date and should burn for 24 hours. Light your candles 18 minutes before sunset on April 14th, 2025. 18 minutes before sunset on this day, will be 07:32 PM. It is customary to recite prayers and reflect on the cherished memories shared with your loved one.

Synagogue Services: We warmly invite you to attend services at Adat Jisrael during this time of remembrance. Our regular service schedule is as follows:

- Weekday Services: Monday - Friday, 8:30 am - 9:30 am
- Shabbat Services: Friday 5:30 pm and Saturday 9:15 am

If you would like a Kaddish recited on behalf of your loved one during our synagogue services, please let us know. Additionally, if you would like to sponsor a Kiddush or make a donation in their memory, we would be honored to assist you in doing so.

May the memory of Scott West be a blessing, and may you find comfort in the cherished moments and values they imparted.

With warmest regards,

Johanna Cohen
